DU MONT

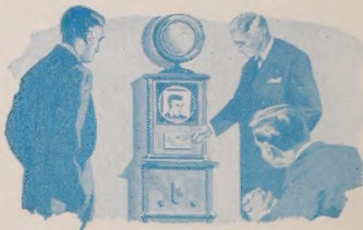

First in precision electronics — Du Mont is the world's foremost maker of scientific precision instruments utilizing the electronic cathode ray tube.

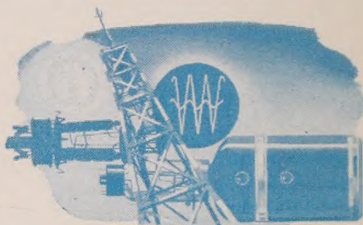

First in radar — In 1933, Dr. Du Mont filed a patent application which the army asked him to withdraw for security reasons. This idea, developed in secrecy, became radar.

First in development — When Dr. Du Mont started his research in 1931, the cathode ray tube was a laboratory curiosity. It was his development of this tube that made electronic television commercially practical.

First with home receivers — Du Mont built the first commercial home receivers in 1939. After the war, in 1946, Du Mont was first on the market with a line of fine receivers; first with the 20-inch and 30-inch tubes—the world's largest.

First in station equipment — Du Mont is a leading maker of high-fidelity, precision broadcasting equipment, and has planned, designed, and built many of the country's leading television stations.

BETTER THINGS FOR BETTER LIVING . . . THROUGH CHEMISTRY

FOREWORD

THIRTY-THREE years ago, the first edition of The Film Year Book of Motion Pictures was published to serve the urgent requirements of an industry then in its first major stage of growth. ☆

In the decades which so swiftly have elapsed, it has been the Year Book's high privilege to keep pace with the industry to the end that the liaison established in 1918 not only be maintained but materially further strengthened with each succeeding year. ☆

Thus it is that throughout the world, as well as in the United States, the Year Book is accepted unquestionably as the motion picture industry's standard reference volume and encyclopedic work. ☆

In presenting this, the 33rd edition, there is no deviation from the original publishing credo. The enlarged editorial content reflects the important developments of the year and further points to new industry horizons both on the domestic front and overseas. ☆

Special import attaches to those sections and departments mirroring the effect of the nation's rearmament and industrial mobilization efforts, and to the augmented report on television. ☆

To all those who loyally have aided in the preparation of this 33rd edition go, once again, our sincere thanks.

Most powerful 16mm Sound projector

Filmoarc

...for brilliant theater or outdoor projection

The Bell & Howell Filmoarc gives you higher intensity illumination than any other 16mm projector. Not changed over simply by placing an arc lamp behind a B&H projector, but engineered throughout as an arc machine, the Filmoarc incorporates many time-tested B&H features. And because it is the product of over 40 years' experience in meeting Hollywood's exacting needs, you'll find Filmoarc has the built-in features for superior projection.

You buy for life
when you buy

Bell & Howell

7144 McCormick Rd.
Chicago 45

These Filmoarc features give you better projection!

Light Output is approximately 1300 lumens... completely adequate for largest auditoriums.

High Intensity Arc automatically held to uniform gap maintains constant illumination on screen at all times.

Rhodium-surfaced Reflector, unbreakable, is unaffected by arc splatter.

Governor-Controlled Speeds... constant to within 2% of rated speeds.

Gears transmit power... no belts to slip and cause flicker.

Lenses... standard equipment is 3-inch f/2 Filmocoted lens, ground to give uniform clarity right to the edges of the screen. Optional lenses available for almost any length of throw.

Twin Speaker System is standard equipment... assured high-fidelity, high-volume sound to all parts of large auditoriums.

Oscillatory Sound Stabilizer patented by B&H... gives completely flutterless sound reproduction.

These Filmoarc features give you easy, safe operation!

Safety Film, 16mm film is fire-proof... Filmoarc requires no projection booth.

Panel Controls... projector and sound controls on the inclined panel of amplifier... right at your finger tips.

Roll-away stand moves freely on ball-bearing swivel wheels for easy portability. Legs adjust for projection from irregular floors.

Ask your Bell & Howell special representative for full details or a demonstration.

Guaranteed for life. During life of the product, any defects in workmanship or material will be remedied free (except transportation).

ASCAP

MUSIC is the main ingredient of all successful entertainment programs—but not just any music. When you're in the business of entertaining people, it pays to give them the best.

ASCAP music is demanded music—the newest and most-requested novelty tunes and ballads . . . the old standbys . . . rhythms and blues . . . folk tunes and sacred songs . . . special music for special occasions.

ASCAP music is successful—successful because it's created by America's outstanding composers of stage and screen songs, popular tunes, operettas and concert works.

ASCAP is growing—growing with constantly created new works that customers will be demanding tomorrow—and the day after.

All of ASCAP's rich and varied repertory—including the works of world-famous foreign composers—is available to you in one complete package at low cost, and with a minimum of clearance problems.

From Maine to California your local ASCAP representative, at your call, will bring you complete details as to the ASCAP license for your particular needs.

TWO PRACTICAL AIDS TO THE TV PRODUCER

BMI, through its Television Service Department, makes available to its TV licensees a variety of specific aids to music programming. TWO PRACTICAL AIDS are described below:

BRIDGES, MOODS, INTERLUDES

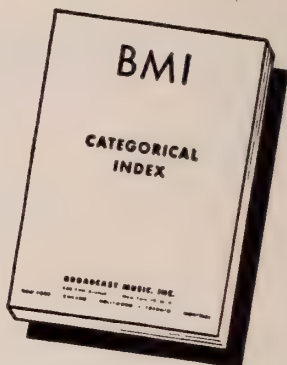

A classified and cross-indexed reference book, particularly helpful wherever descriptive mood music or background music is necessary.

You don't have to be a music expert to make the most of this BMI service. "Bridges, Moods, Interludes" gives you thousands of cues to recorded music available to any telecaster.

MUSICAL CATEGORIES

For setting musical scenes and selecting appropriate music for countless script situations . . . A complete volume, carefully compiled, indexed and cross-indexed, to provide immediate reference to a wide variety of song titles. The BMI CATEGORICAL INDEX is proving indispensable to TV producers and program directors everywhere.

Take it Easy!

Change TV Programs from your
Easy Chair with the Amazing

Zenith "Lazy Bones"

REMOTE CONTROL

Not one knob to touch! That's right—you just hold the "Lazy Bones" control in your palm, anywhere in the room. To change programs one after another, just press lightly with your thumb. Absolutely nothing else to tune or re-tune. All the necessary adjustments are made for you—automatically. It's the far-ahead design and extraordinary stability of Zenith's Turret Tuner that make possible such miraculous remote control! You must try it yourself to believe it. Your Zenith Radio and Television Dealer invites you, today.

New Zenith® "Byron" TV Console. 19 inch (238 sq. in.) 2-in-1 Reflection-Proof screen, wider than a newspaper page! New "Super-Range" chassis. Pre-tuned built-in antenna. 18th Century cabinet in rich Mahogany veneers.

For Utmost Image Quality

THE $f/1.9$

SUPER-SNAPLITE

6-ELEMENT ANASTIGMAT

COMPARE THESE ADVANTAGES!

ANASTIGMAT . . . Six-elements for wide-angle, high-magnification, wire-sharp projection!

$f/1.9$. . . magnificent screen brilliance!

COATED OPTICS . . . greater light, sparkling contrast!

HERMETICALLY SEALED . . . trouble-free performance; dustproof, oilproof!

ANODIZED FINISH . . . can't flake off!

SUPERB FOR COLOR!

Wider-angle projection . . . higher magnification . . . utmost image quality are yours with the spectacular new Super-Snaplite!

Because it's a true anastigmat, the Super-Snaplite produces extremely high magnifications, in short throws, with exceptional detail — gives incomparable image quality in longer throws!

And this superb performance is permanent — thanks to the hermetically sealed, one-piece high-strength aluminum alloy mount! The Super-Snaplite is dust-proof, moisture-proof, oil-proof — never needs to be taken apart for cleaning! The anti-reflection coating is hard, durable, too!

Focal lengths range from 2" through 5" in $\frac{1}{4}$ " steps. Speed of $f/1.9$ is maintained throughout. Get the complete details of the new Super-Snaplite by writing for Bulletin 203!

The 16 mm. sound-on-film portable Recording System combines the highest fidelity in 16 mm. recording practice with wide flexibility and simplicity of operation. The system is completely portable and is capable of recording either negative or direct positive variable area and variable density sound tracks.

The 16 mm. Film Phonograph unit provides the finest quality in high fidelity re-recording and playback. The unique optical system, giving an unusually narrow reproducing image with high light output, accomplishes a material reduction in photo-cell hiss—essential for quality reproduction.

THE NEW MAURER 16 MM CAMERA

The 16 mm. Professional Camera is the result of J. A. Maurer research and development in the 16 mm. field. Designed specifically for professional use, it is equipped with precision high-power focusing and the finest view-finder made.

Standard equipment includes: 235° dissolving shutter, automatic fade control, view-finder, sunshade and filter holder, one 400 foot gear-driven film magazine, a 60-cycle 115-volt synchronous motor, one 8-frame handcrank, power cable and a lightweight carrying case.

The Model F Prime Recording Optical System and Galvanometer is a light modulating unit for recording sound photographically upon standard film. This system requires no special servicing or spare parts (other than recording lamp). Detailed instructions for mounting in your recorder are included.

A FRONTLINE POST

By ERIC A. JOHNSTON

*President, Motion Picture Association of America,
On Leave to Serve as U. S. Economic Administrator*

IF OUR industry's biggest New Year's resolution had been written out, it might read something like this:

"Whereas, the free world is embroiled in a struggle that turns on good ideas as opposed to bad ideas as much or more than it does on military weapons, and

"Whereas, nothing packs as much ideological firepower as the motion picture,

"Therefore, be it resolved, that the American motion picture must bear the brunt of the battle on this ideological front."

Put another way, it means that no other industry can match our striking force in reaching people's minds.

We have always known that the universality of the motion picture's appeal is rivaled only by its persuasiveness. We don't need to call the film an "ideological weapon" to know that every one we turn out is a transmission belt for ideas.

Our assignment today imposes a high trust on us to portray American life so faithfully that we magnetize and strengthen the faith of old friends and win new friends for the cause of the free world.

Here's a frontline post that we can fill with credit and distinction as we have met every call in the past—with ingenuity, with a large dash of daring and a large helping of the sauce of wholesome showmanship. It's an enviable chance to rally free men and women for their own salvation against an enemy organized to enslave them.

1950: A REVIEW

By CHESTER B. BAHN

Editor, THE FILM DAILY

I

§ "UNTIL PEACE AND FREEDOM ARE MADE SECURE." For the third time in a generation, the awesome shadow of Mars shot full across the American industry in 1950, and, as twice before, in 1917 and again in 1941, the industry fell into line, asked for its marching orders from the Government.

It was on Sept. 10 that a 23-man industry delegation, designated by COMPO, and headed by the latter's president, Ned E. Depinet, called at the White House to tell the President, "We are at your service and the service of our country and the service of the United Nations until peace and freedom are made clearer. In reply, the delegation heard the Chief Executive express his familiarity with the industry's "tremendous contribution" in World War II and say that he expected "a repeat of that performance."

● AS A PRELUDE to this all-industry pledge, President Eric A. Johnston of the MPAA had marked the start of the Korean "police action" by telegraphing the President on June 28: "Your electrifying action belies the notion that Democracy cannot move with swiftness and audacity. . . . You have emboldened the hearts of free men everywhere and fortified their faith in themselves and in us." Various exhibitor associations, too, responded quickly, the first being the New Mexico Theater Association at its convention the same day.

Because of the need for immediate action, Johnston on July 16 named Francis S. Harmon, executive vice-president of the WAC during World War II, as the association's liaison with the Government's several defense agencies. Only July 21, Allied designated Abram F. Meyers as its liaison with the Government war agencies, but called for COMPO to assume the role, functioning for the entire industry. Finally, on Aug. 9, this was accomplished through the creation of the COMPO Committee for Co-operation with the U. S. Government after the resolution had been revised to meet TOA objections. Two days later, COMPO President Ned E. Depinet assured the President the industry's "full co-operation in the present crisis."

● ON AUG. 3, the Commerce and Defense Departments placed the industry in an essential category when they issued a "tentative list of essential activities" as a guide for armed forces use in calling up reservists. On Sept. 11, Nathan D. Golden, long the Commerce Department's film chief, was named to represent the industry in the National Production Authority; subsequently, on Nov. 15, Golden announced the appointment of James Frank, Jr., to head the NPA's motion picture equipment section. Earlier, on Oct. 26, the NPA issued an order banning new theater construction, including drive-ins, except under certain circumstances, although permitting the completion of projects already underway. The order provided for "bona fide" maintenance and repair work, modernization, additions or improvements up to a $5,000 ceiling in any 12-month period, and for building to replace a theater destroyed by fire, flood or other disaster or act of God. Later cutbacks in critical materials, of course, affected phases of industry operation and activity.

● ON ANOTHER industry war front, Samuel Pinanski, president of the TOA, was chosen by COMPO and the Treasury Department to head a committee to handle all film activity incident to a stepped up Bond selling campaign. Pinanski was the Treasury's choice in the Spring to direct the industry's Bond sales effort.

II

§ HANDS ACROSS THE SEA. To New York in early December came the Hon. Rupert Somervell, Under-Secretary of His Majesty's Board of Trade, to affix his signature alongside those of Eric A. Johnston and Ellis G. Arnall, presidents respectively of the MPEA and the SIMPP, and thus formalize a new one-year Anglo-American film agreement effective as of Oct. 1.

Signing of the pact which replaced the expired original two-year agreement took place at the

BETTY HUTTON

MPAA headquarters in New York on Dec. 5. The two-year agreement expired on June 14, but its provisions held over for the interim.

Complementing the new agreement was a "letter of interpretation" addressed by Somervell to Johnston and Arnall under the Oct. 1 date. It was designed to cover a number of problems of interpretation likely to arise in relation to the operation of the bonus scheme.

The result of negotiations which spanned a period of months and twice caused Johnston and Arnall and their aides to make pilgrimages to London, the new agreement embodied United Kingdom production bonus provisions which made possible an increase of from $3 million to $4 million above the basic $17 million yearly British film remittables.

American distributors will be permitted to convert into dollars a sum equivalent to 23 per cent of sterling expenditures for film production in Britain; 50 per cent of sterling expenditures for outright purchase of British films; and 50 per cent of sterling paid to British interests for distribution of their films in the Western hemisphere.

● DISCUSSIONS looking to a new agreement originally opened in London on May 15 when the British Government placed primary emphasis upon the expansion of American production in England while American companies called for more dollars and freer use of frozen earnings.

The parleys extended for a week and ended with the submission of what were termed "final" British proposals. They were, of course, rather designed for bargaining purposes.

Particularly obnoxious to the American industry was the British proposal to impose financial penalties should American production in Britain during the new contract period fall below that prevailing during the last two years. There was strong American opposition as well to the British proposal that all American film earnings above $13 million yearly remittables—a new and lower level—be invested either in American production in Britain or in British government bonds.

Johnston and Arnall made their second trip to London in July with preliminary discussions starting on the 20th.

● IT WAS NOT until Aug. 2 that there came a meeting of the minds and an agreement "in principle." The conferees, discarding the unsatisfactory "B" pool of the original agreement, substituted the three bonus incentives designed to increase materially the basic $17 million remittables.

Importantly, the bonuses will be earned by individual companies.

American-sponsored films qualify for the production bonus but the bonus for American distribution applies only to purely British pictures.

The permitted uses in the old agreement carry over with several additions, including permission for American companies to purchase currencies of other countries with their blocked earnings in Britain.

● THE APPROACH to the compromise was aided by American distributor acceptance in June of the British entertainment tax relief plan after an initial rejection, plus strong American Government support, instanced by American Embassy moves at the direction of the State Department.

In late January, the issue of American film dollars was introduced in the British Parliamentary Campaign when Winston Churchill, in his opening campaign speech, charged his Majesty's Labor Government with frittering away U. S. dollars on films.

On March 12, Harold Wilson, president of the Board of Trade, set the 1950-51 exhibitors' quota at 30 per cent, a figure obviously unrealistic.

III

● THE END OF THE TRAIL. in Washington, on Oct. 16, the remaining three of the "Big Five" reached the end of the trail insofar as their fight to overturn the divorce and divestiture provisions of the February decree of the New York Statutory Court before which the Government's antitrust action was tried.

The high court slammed shut the door when it refused to reconsider its June 5 action affirming those provisions. The court, by its action, in effect told Loew's, Warners and 20th-Century Fox:

"Either divorce and give up theaters on the timetable set down by the Statutory Court or work out some terms with the Government in special consent decrees."

Warners and Twentieth-Fox subsequently entered into consent decree parleys with the Department of Justice; Loew's held aloof. On Dec. 26, came the announcement that Warners and the Department had reached an agreement, with the proposed decree to be presented to the

Charles Coburn

Statutory Court on Jan. 4, and to the stockholders for approval within 90 days. Under the decree's terms, two new producer-distributor and theater companies must be created within 27 months; further, divestiture of from 56 to 77 theaters is called for. The three Warner brothers, Harry M., Jack L. and Maj. Albert, are required to confine their interest to the same new company.

Twentieth-Fox decree discussions continued at the year-end.

The Statutory Court in its decision handed down Feb. 8 directed the three companies to complete divorcement within three years with a proposed divorcement plan to be submitted within six months. In the instance of divestiture, the companies were directed to submit a plan within one year "adequate to satisfy the requirements of the Supreme Court decision with respect to divestiture."

The Statutory Court also held that no new theaters may be acquired by any of the distributing companies resulting from the divorcement without prior court approval and that no exhibition companies resulting from divorcement may distribute films without court sanction.

The three majors did not challenge the Statutory Court's decision insofar as its trade practice provisions were concerned.

● ON JUNE 29. Chief Justice Fred Vinson of the U. S. Supreme Court ruled out further delay in the carrying out of the divorcement and divestiture orders of the New York court.

The mandate of the Supreme Court affirming the February decision of the statutory tribunal was filed with the latter on July 8. Thus the filing of detailed plans for divorcement became due by Jan. 8, 1951, with divestiture plans to be filed by July 8, 1951, and all theaters disposed of by July 8, 1953.

The Statutory Court on Feb. 8 handed down a separate final decree naming the "Little Three"—Universal, Columbia and United Artists. Importantly this decree would permit the three companies to acquire theaters.

Loew's, in its appeal from the Statutory Court's decree, contended that integration as far as it was concerned was not wide enough to require divorcement. Warners and 20th-Fox in their appeals defended their rights to operate theater enterprises when holdings had been reduced to the point where competition would be re-established. The Department of Justice, in a cross appeal, asked for a one-and-a-half year limit on divorcement.

● ON MARCH 6. The Statutory Court amended the Paramount consent decree to allow United Paramount Theaters a two-year period for disposition of 69 theaters. On April 19, the court granted RKO a divorcement extension to Dec. 31. On May 8, Howard Hughes filed an intent with the court to remain with the production end of the RKO operation when final reorganization became effective.

On Sept. 13, Federal District Judge Edward Conger signed an amendment to the Paramount consent decree permitting Paramount to sub-let theaters in 19 Southern cities where landlords involved would not consent to assignment of the agreements.

IV

■ CORPORATE. For a second time in industry annals at the stroke of 12, midnight on Dec. 31, a major company passes by court mandate, to be replaced by two wholly separated entities chartered in Delaware.

The newcomers: RKO Pictures and RKO Theaters, the former "owned" by Howard Hughes, its managing director-production, with Noah Dietrich the board chairman and Ned E. Depinet the president; the latter, with Hughes' controlling 929,028 shares held in trust, pending sale, headed by Sol A. Schwartz as president.

Negotiations for the purchase of the Hughes' holdings in the new theater company by a Trans-Lux group headed by Harry Brandt collapsed in mid-December.

● OTHERWISE, the company developments of 1950 were highlighted by the merger of Joseph Bernhard's Film Classics with Robert R. Young's Eagle Lion to form Eagle Lion Classics, the sudden, dramatic advent of a new United Artists management headed by Paul V. McNutt, Frank McNamee and Max Kravetz; the formation of the Stanley Kramer Co. by Kramer and veteran industryite Sam Katz to function as both producer and distributor, and the corporate union of Jerry Wald and Norman Krasna to produce for RKO on a five-year royalty deal.

The FC-EL merger was a May development, but finalization waited until June 12. The revamped executive slate comprised: Board chairman, Bernhard; president, William MacMillen, Jr.; William Heineman, vice-president in charge of distribution; Bernard Kranze, general sales manager; Syd Gross and Leon Brandt, joint advertising-publicity directors. Subsequently, both Gross and Brandt resigned, with Howard Le Sieur resigning late in the year at United Artists to take over the directorship solo.

In late June, Film Classics made an assignment for the benefit of creditors, with Irving Kaufman designated the assignee.

● SIXTY PER CENT of the 20,000 shares of United Artists stock, representing the 12,000 shares in the treasury, were offered for sale in May, the board of directors designating then President Gradwell L. Sears, Arthur W. Kelly, executive vice-president, and Vitalias L. Chalif to conduct negotiations.

While discussions with several interests, including a group headed by Sam Katz, and another headed by Harry Popkin and Joseph Justman were continuing, UA owners, Mary Pickford and Charles Chaplin called a special stockholders meeting on July 11 without notice to the company management and effected a sweeping reorganization, accompanied by stock option commitments.

McNutt emerged as board chairman, McNamee as president, Miss Pickford as vice-president, Kravetz as secretary. The new triumvirate were said to be acting for an Eastern syndicate, whose wraith-like principals, however, were never disclosed.

As the year ended, there were persistent reports that still other interests were potential purchasers of UA treasury stock involving the company's control. Projected were the names of Jacques Grinieff and Robert Haggiag, among others. That the plans of McNutt, et al, had encountered bad snags was self evident.

The earlier months of the year saw these UA developments: In February Nat Nathanson was named Eastern and Canadian sales manager; on Feb. 20 George Bagnall resigned as vice-president in charge of production. Subsequent to the advent of the new management, Arthur W. Kelly resigned from the company, with Al Lowe assuming direction of foreign sales. In early August, Clinton J. Scollard joined the company as executive vice-president, previously resigning from the Paramount executive staff. Also in early August, Harry D. Buckley resigned as did Paul N. Lazarus, Jr., the latter thereafter taking an executive post at Columbia. On Dec. 20 the resignation of Francis M. Winikus as advertising manager was announced.

● THE RKO PICTURES-RKO THEATERS realignment was preceded by a series of executive changes during the year. On Jan. 17, Sid Rogell was named RKO executive producer; in late May he resigned. Gordon Youngman on Jan. 17 was named vice-president in charge of commitments, and Bicknel Lockhart vice-president and general manager of RKO Studios. On Feb. 28, George H. Shaw and J. Miller Walker were replaced on the RKO board by A. S. Simpson, Houston banker, and Thomas A. Slack, vice-president of the Hughes Tool Co. At a subsequent meeting on March 6, Noah Dietrich was elected chairman of the RKO board. Malcolm Kingsberg on April 26 resigned as vice-president of RKO Corp. and as president of RKO Theaters. On the following day, Ned E. Depinet was elected president of RKO Theaters and Sol A. Schwartz, executive vice-president. On May 25, William F. Whitman succeeded J. Miller Walker as secretary of RKO Theaters, with Walker becoming vice-president. On May 27, resignations of L. Lawrence Green and Frederick L. Ehrman from the RKO board were announced. Subsequently, Maurice H. Bent and J. Miller Walker replaced them, while Noah Dietrich was elected RKO Radio board chairman. On July 13 Harry J. Michaelson dropped the post of short sales manager at RKO to devote his full time to the RKO-Pathe presidency. On Aug. 20, Lockhart resigned as RKO studio general manager. On Dec. 13 resignation of Youngman as vice-president in charge of the studio was announced, with C. J. Tevlin succeeding.

● IN PARAMOUNT PICTURES these developments rated industry attention. In April, President Barney Balaban and Edwin L. Weisl joined the board of Allen B. DuMont Laboratories. On May 1, THE FILM DAILY reported the company had acquired an interest in the Chromatic Television Laboratories and on May 10 THE FILM DAILY disclosed that Paramount was experimenting with third dimension.

On May 29, Clay V. Hake was named Harry Hunter's successor as Paramount managing director in Australia. On June 29, Max E. Youngstein was elected a director and vice-president of the Paramount Distributing Co. In early July, Henry Ginsberg resigned as Paramount Studio administrator and production head, with Y. Frank Freeman taking over studio operations on the 16th. Henry B. Gordon was named executive assistant to President George Weltner of Paramount-International on July 19. In late December the company set a $15,000,000 loan from the Prudential Insurance Co. to run for 15 years. Paramount during the year engaged in heavy stock purchases of its own common in the open market.

● THERE WAS A SERIES of newsworthy developments at Universal. In late January Robert W. Lea of Johns-Manville joined the company board, while in early March John G. Eidell also became a director. In late May, Alfred E. Daff was appointed executive vice-president of Universal, and Oct. 24 he became director of world wide sales for the company. William A. Scully becoming domestic sales consultant under a new four-year deal.

On July 2 it was announced that the Universal board had voted President Nate J. Blumberg a new five-year contract. On Sept. 24 Americo Aboaf was named vice-president of Universal Int'l. On Nov. 30 A. J. O'Keefe resigned as assistant general sales manager and on the following day appointment of Charles J. Feldman as domestic sales manager was announced.

On Dec. 6 David A. Lipton, the company's national director of advertising, publicity and exploitation, was elected a vice-president. Two departmental changes shortly followed. Henry A. Linet assuming the new post of sales promotion manager and Jeff Livingston succeeding him as Eastern advertising manager. On Dec. 19, Peter T. Dana was promoted to the post of Eastern sales manager.

Universal's subsidiary, United World Films, gained Murray Goodman as vice-president on Jan. 2, while late in the year it was announced that Matthew Fox had resigned as UWF's board chairman, effective Jan. 1. Fox's resignation from the Universal board takes effect simultaneously.

● IN EARLY JULY, Joseph M. Schenck resigned as board chairman and president of United Artists Theaters in order to remain with 20th-Fox; the alternative had been given him by the Government. Subsequently, George Skouras filled the vacated presidency.

In late March, Loew's stockholders approved new five-year contracts for Louis B. Mayer and J. Robert Rubin.

On May 4 Robert Weitman and Edward L. Hyman were elected vice-presidents of United Paramount theaters. On Oct. 19, UPT announced that its holdings in the Butterfield Circuit had been acquired by the University of Michigan. On Dec. 11, UPT announced it had entered into a $45,000,000 loan arrangement with a banking group and an insurance company. At a special stockholder's meeting in late December, seven-year stock options allocating shares to officers and key personnel were approved. On Dec. 11, Columbia stockholders authorized two additional directors. First to be designated was Lewis S. Rosenteil, chairman of the board of Schenley Industries.

In early January, Louis Talcott Stone was named executive assistant to David O. Selznick. In late March, Victor J. Hoare became vice-president in charge of foreign distribution of SRO. On April 18 Daniel O'Shea resigned as president of Vanguard Films and as executive director of the Selznick Studio; O'Shea, in late November, joined CBS in a top television post. On April 26, the resignation of Robert H. Dann as Vanguard's vice-president and general counsel was announced. In mid-June, Robert Gilham resigned as SRO's advertising-publicity director to take an executive post with MCA. In early August Manny Reiner stepped down as head of SRO's foreign film unit.

● THERE WERE CHANGES in Samuel Goldwyn's organization as well during the year. In early January Arthur Sachson resigned as general sales manager. On Feb. 6 Lynn Farnol resigned as Goldwyn's advertising-publicity director. The following day Jock Lawrence rejoined Goldwyn as vice-president in charge of public relations, publicity and advertising but in early November stepped out. On Feb. 13 Alfred Crown assumed the direction of world wide sales.

Resignation of Allen Wilson as Republic's vice-president in charge of studio operations was announced as October ended. A week later, Jack E. Baker was designated studio manager.

Robert Lippert appointed Marty Weiser ad-publicity director for Lippert Productions in early January. In early April, the company announced it was opening its distribution set-up to outside producers.

On Jan. 5 Norman W. Elson succeeded W. French Githens as president of Newsreel Theaters, Inc. This was followed late in the month by the resignation of Col. Augustine G. Rudd as vice-president and as general manager of the Embassy circuit. Githens subsequently was elected chairman of the executive committee of Cinerama, Inc. and a director of Vitarama and Cinerama; In early August, control of Cinerama was acquired by a group headed by Hazard E. Reeves.

In addition to financial moves already noted, there were these which held more than ordinary interest: National Theaters arranged a $7,500,000 loan with Metropolitan Life, the Bank of America and Chase National; the 1501 Broadway Corp., a Paramount subsidiary, borrowed $9,000,000 from Prudential Life Insurance Co.; Columbia completed a $12,000,000 loan arrangement with the First National of Boston, Bank of America, National Trust & Savings Association and the Manhattan Co.; Walt Disney Prods. in November acted to redeem its outstanding 6 per cent preferred stock.

● OTHER NEWSWORTHY corporate developments of 1950 include: Charles Chaplin formed Celebrated Films Corp. to reissue his comedies; Donald E. Hyndman was named sales-manager for Eastman Kodak's motion picture department in the U. S.; Jack Broder succeeded Norman Eisenstein as Realart's board chairman; Frank Soule was elected president of Pictorial Films; James M. King, Jr. was named treasurer of Pathe Industries; Capt. Harold Auten left United Artists to organize Ballantine Pictures Corp., a new distributor; John Arent was elected GOVERNMENT VS. INDUSTRY. The Government's antitrust action against Technicolor finally came to an end on Feb. 28 with the signing in Hollywood of a consent decree which ended various contracts and arrangements between Technicolor and motion picture producers.

The judgment gave producers the option to cancel contracts which had required them to use only Technicolor cameras and services in the making of motion pictures in color and to take advantage of any other decrees. Additionally, the judgment requires Technicolor to license 92 patents on a royalty-free basis while 12 additional patents, 48 patent applications and all patents Technicolor acquires or applies for up until Nov. 28, 1953, are also made available to producers on a reasonable royalty basis.

Moreover, Technicolor is required up until Jan. 1, 1957, to furnish "knowhow" to all licensees who pay a reasonable royalty. Finally, the judgment requires Technicolor to furnish at nominal charge the detailed specifications, prints and plans of Technicolor three strip cameras to all applicants desiring to manufacture cameras and to have the cameras and accessories available at reasonable rentals.

● ON MARCH 14 in New York, ASCAP entered into two consent decrees with the Government to end antitrust suits. By the decrees, the society was required to terminate domestic and foreign monopolies. Among the important provisions of the consent judgment were those requiring the Society to offer to motion picture producers and television stations, like radio stations, a single license covering all performances of a motion picture or an entirely network telecast.

As a result of the decree, ASCAP may no longer sue motion picture exhibitors for royalties nor may it longer collect license fees from exhibitors or use music of resigned members. The domestic judgment replaced a 1941 consent decree against the Society.

● FINIS WAS WRITTEN to the Government's antitrust action filed April 28, 1939, against the Griffith circuits as the year ebbed. On Dec. 27 in Oklahoma City, more than 11 years after the suit had been instituted, Federal Judge Edgar S. Vaught entered his final decree. While the court avoided any sweeping divestiture order, the 288-page document laid down a pattern of conduct in compliance with the U. S. Supreme Court decision which two years earlier found the defendants guilty. The decree followed extended arguments early in the year during which Judge Vaught ruled that Video Independent Theaters, Inc., which had taken over 150 Griffith houses in Texas and Oklahoma, could not be made defendants as sought by the Government.

On April 10 the U. S. Supreme Court refused to accept jurisdiction in the appeal of screen writers John Howard Lawson and Dalton Trumbo from a lower court conviction of contempt of the Congress.

On May 10, the Department of Justice charged violation of the Crescent consent decree, filing civil and criminal contempt proceedings at Nashville, Tenn.

VI

TRADE LITIGATION. Twice during 1950 the U. S. Supreme Court spurned industry attempts to end motion picture censorship.

On May 8 the high court refused to accept jurisdiction in the "Curley" suit originating in Memphis. And on Oct. 16, it refused to hear the "Lost Boundaries" appeal by an 8 to 1 vote. The latter decision held largely on the basis of an earlier 1915 ruling that Atlanta's censors had acted within their rights in banning the picture produced by the RD-DR Corp. It was a major industry setback.

The petition seeking review argued that "motion pictures remain the one medium of mass communication which is outside the protection of the First Amendment" and that "this case affords the court with the opportunity to take the final and explicit step clearly foreshadowed by its more recent decisions which would bring motion pictures into their rightful place alongside other media of communication to which the protection of the First Amendment is extended."

● THE FILING of antitrust suits continued unabated during 1950. National Screen Service was made defendant in several actions originating in Cleveland and Philadelphia, the plaintiffs being independent poster exchanges and the operators of six Allentown, Pa., theaters. Max M. and Leon W. Korr, who said they sued on behalf of all U. S. exhibitors. An attempt to build independent exhibitor backing for the plaintiffs failed; instead, the support went to NSS

In New York, Edwin H. Morris and Co. filed a $1,700,000 suit against five major companies and 14 music publishing firms in which they have interests.

In San Francisco, Samuel Goldwyn filed suit against Fox West Coast, National Theaters, the Naify-McNeil interests, et al. The balm sought, $6,750,000, set a record for the year. The second largest antitrust suit of the year was filed in Chicago by the Schoendstadt circuit against six distributors and the B & K and Warner circuits. Damages demanded: $5,100,000.

Other theater antitrust actions were filed during the year by exhibitors in Hampton, Va.; Northeast Philadelphia; Maumee, Ohio; Lowville, N. Y.; Pontiac, Mich.; Los Angeles; Rochester, N. Y.; Gloucester, N. J.; Lawrence, Mass.; Miami, Fla.; Spring Valley, N. Y.; Chicago; Van Nuys, Calif.; Aiken, S. Car.; Ballinger, Tex.; Detroit; Baltimore; Salt Lake City; Danville, Va.; South Bend, Ind.; Boston; Birmingham, Ala., and New Orleans.

In the aggregate, damages sought by the plaintiffs in the theater suits totalled $38,513,571.

On July 5, William B. Celestin, president of Keler-Dorian Colorfilm, filed a $3,000,000 antitrust action in New York naming Eastman Kodak, Technicolor, Inc., and Technicolor Motion Picture Corp., as defendants. A suit filed by the Keller-Dorian Corp. in 1948 against the defendants seeking $300,000,000 is still pending.

● SETTLEMENTS struck several important suits from dockets and calendars during 1950. On Jan. 2, 24 exhibitors in the Pittsburgh area settled the Roth, et al, vs. Paramount, et al, litigation in which distributors had filed 148 separate counter claims. The amount recovered by the distributors was not disclosed.

In early February, the Village Theater of Port Arthur, Tex., settled its suit against the Jefferson Amusement Co. In late March, the second suit brought by William Goldman in behalf of his Elanger theater in Philadelphia against Warners et al was settled before trial.

In Chicago, Alexander Theater Corp. terminated its action against B & K and the majors. Similarly, the action brought by the Benal theater, Chicago, against the same defendants, was settled. Ditto suits brought in behalf of the Kimbark and Aco Theaters in Chicago. Still another out-of-court settlement in the Windy City was effected by the Bartelstein Brothers. The Grayslake outdoor theater at Grayslake, Ill., the World Theater, Chicago, the Windsor Theater, Baltimore, also obtained settlements.

In St. Louis, Martin W. D'Arcy and Victor G. Nossetti, former lessees of the Shubert there, settled suits against distributors, but not against exhibitor defendants.

● ON JAN. 9, the U. S. Supreme Court refused to reconsider its decision not to accept jurisdiction in the Fifth and Walnut suit and on March 13 the high court, for a second time, declined to take jurisdiction in the Harry Norman Ball suit. The plaintiff had asked the court to overrule the lower court opinion, placing the burden of proof on the defendants.

On Feb. 7, Federal Judge John Barnes, sitting in Chicago, awarded $1,295,827.26 damages, plus counsel fees, of $250,000, to the Towne Theater Corp. of Milwaukee against Loew's, RKO, Paramount, 20th-Fox, Warners and Columbia.

On April 14, Judge Barnes, in the Towne decree, banned cross licensing by Warners and 20th-Fox in Warner and Fox theaters in Milwaukee, placed a two-week limit on downtown first-runs in Warner and Fox theaters, limited subsequent-runs in the Warner and Fox houses to one week, prohibited move-overs by the circuits, prohibited double features in defendant theaters, ruled that Towne must be offered product at reasonable rentals and permitted the Towne to run duals if it so desired. An appeal was taken.

On Feb. 8, J. B. Fox, Helen E. Fox, Melvin J. Fox, Marion S. Fox, and J. B. and Melvin Fox as trustees, filed suit against Warners for $1,215,000 charging breach of lease and "waste" in five theaters owned by the Fox family and leased to Warners.

● ON JUNE 19, in a precedent-setting decision, Federal Judge Norbye in Minneapolis ruled in the declaratory judgment suit brought by William and Sydney Volk against the eight majors that the decrees for the Government in the New York antitrust action against the majors cannot be used by exhibitors in percentage fraud actions as prima facie evidence of claimed antitrust violation on the part of distributors.

On July 20, the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Boston dismissed the appeal of Abraham Garbose from the decision of Federal Judge Charles E. Wyzanski, Jr., in the antitrust action filed against the George A. Giles Co. "for want of appellate jurisdiction."

On Aug. 1, Skouras Theaters filed a $3,015,000 cross complaint against JJ Theaters, Luxor Theaters and major distributors as an aftermath of the JJ and Luxor antitrust action.

In September the Partmar Corp. operating the Los Angeles Paramount amended its antitrust action against Paramount to ask $1,275,000 instead of $500,000 damages.

On Sept. 28, RKO and Walter Reade Theaters reached an out of court settlement on the split-up of the Trenton-New Brunswick theater chain.

● ON OCT. 3, Eagle Lion Classics filed suit to end the alleged non-competitive division of films between Loew's and RKO Theaters in metropolitan New York. Damages to the extent of $15,000,000 were demanded.

In early November, Federal Judge W. Calvin Chestnut of Baltimore in his opinion in the civil action between the Windsor Theater and the Walbrook Amusement Co. gave strong support to "the undoubted and important right" of distributors to select their customers when two and more theaters seek their product in a situation. The Windsor filed an appeal.

In late November, Federal Judge William Kirkpatrick in Philadelphia granted an injunction against the majors continuing the existing clearance set-up for Allentown and Bethlehem and ruled that David E. Milgram's Boulevard Drive-In between those cities be permitted an opportunity to buy first-run day and date with indoor theaters.

On Nov. 24, Federal Judge John C. Knox in New York approved a payment plan under which 20th-Fox will turn over $200,000 in the next two years in full settlement of claims against the company, its officers and directors by trustees of the assets of the old Fox Theaters Corp.

On Dec. 30, a Federal trial jury in Kansas City returned a $1,125,000 verdict in favor of the Brookside Theater Corp. which had sued major distributors, charging conspiracy.

■ COMPO. The first 100 years are the hardest, they say. For COMPO, it easily could be the first year. That the formula adopted for COMPO by its progenitor, the Conference Committee of the Motion Picture Industry, were not fully acceptable to exhibition elements was early indicated. This was especially true of TOA which, like Allied earlier, authorized only one year's participation, and went beyond that to underscore local autonomy and modest budgeting.

Nonetheless, COMPO became a reality at a Conference Committee meeting in Chicago on May 8, and before adjournment on the following day, permanent officers, except for the executive vice-president, had been designated. The presidency went to RKO's Ned E. Depinet, who had successfully and skillfully guided the all-industry move since the original Chicago meeting in 1949. TOA at the last minute withdrew "conditions" with which it had planned to complement its ratifying reservations.

Before completing the draft of the by-laws, one highly important amendment was accepted. Presented by the MMPTA's Leo Brecher, it placed trade practices and film licensing matters outside the pale. Starting date for financial contributions was fixed as Sept. 1. The executive vice-presidency was not filled until Aug. 10 when the choice was talented Arthur L. Mayer.

On May 15, COMPO received its New York State charter, and on May 18 the first corporate meeting was held in New York City to complete the legal formalities—adoption of the by-laws, election of Executive Board and officers. At the same time, President Depinet appointed COMPO's first five functional committees.

● A NEAR-CRISIS threatened at an Executive Board meeting in New York Aug. 8-9. It was averted with the unanimous adoption of a revised resolution establishing a war agency—the COMPO Committee for Co-operation with the U. S. Government. Thus certain objections expressed by TOA were met. But dissatisfaction by no means was ended, and TOA at its Houston convention on Nov. 2 directed the appointment of a committee "to meet with representatives of COMPO seeking to have COMPO reorganize itself along the lines of fairer representation and limiting its activities to public relations at the national level."

TOA's members of the Executive Board were conspicuous by their absence when the board met in New York Nov. 16-17, and it was not until Dec. 7, finally, that the TOA committee headed by Ted Gamble first conferred with COMPO officers. Meanwhile the one-year time limit for TOA COMPO affiliation was reached.

On Dec. 20, President Depinet called the Executive Board to meet in New York Jan. 11-12, disclosed that TOA wanted for each of its state and regional units the same voting rights and privileges as the 10 charter members. A radical change in the COMPO format thus was proposed.

Allied's board, meeting in Pittsburgh Oct. 2, approved Allied's membership in COMPO for a second year. There was, however, some opposition, led by Eastern Pennsylvania Allied, headed by Sidney Samuelson. Subsequently, that unit's directors resolved not to recommend COMPO financial support by its membership.

The way was opened for several ambitious public relations moves at the Executive Board's Nov. 16-17 meeting, including a Starmakers contest, a Film Festival and a series of Motion Picture Expositions in principal cities.

● ABRAM F. MYERS. Allied board chairman and general counsel, who had vigorously and wisely led the industry fight to end the Federal admission tax, resigned Aug. 17 as chairman of the COMPO tax committee. The outbreak of hostilities in Korea caused the tax fight to be abandoned, yet it was obvious the industry had scored a moral victory nevertheless, in its months' long drive for Congressional action.

Robert W. Coyne resigned from Monarch Theaters to join COMPO as special counsel. Later, to the headquarters staff were added Charles McCarthy, information officer, and Dick Pitts as press officer.

In early September, establishment of COMPO exchange area committees was started, remained uncompleted at the year-end.

MPAA. While there was considerable activity on all MPAA fronts during 1950, reflected in other divisions of this review, one of the most important association moves came on June 21 when the board unanimously approved a new section of the Advertising Code and added two regulations for the Code's administration. The changes were designed to ban the use of advertising exploiting the misconduct of screen personalities, and were recommended by the Advertising Advisory Council.

Backdrop for the association's action was l'affaire "Stromboli" which, on March 14, had caused Sen. Edwin C. Johnson, D., Colo., to introduce a bill to saddle the industry with licenses and tight controls. It was promptly and correctly stigmatized as a "police state" measure by President Eric A. Johnston. The Senate Interstate Commerce Committee, to which the Johnson bill was referred, engaged former Judge Stephen Jackson, one-time MPAA aide, as investigator, sent him to Hollywood.

Then, on April 26, there was a quiet three-hour dinner meeting in Washington attended by industry leaders and the Senator. Assurances given that the Code would be stringently amended led Johnson the next day to call off the "morals" hearings which were scheduled by the Senate committee for a May 15 start.

● SEVERAL TIMES during the year, the MPAA made it plain that it was ready to fight motion picture censorship all the way to the U. S. Supreme Court. The first two rounds, represented by the "Curley" case in Memphis and the "Lost Boundaries" suit in Atlanta, were lost.

But, undaunted, the association found a third of greater promise when on Oct. 24 in Marshall, Tex., the manager of the local Paramount Theater was convicted by a County Court jury for exhibiting "Pinky" after the picture had been banned by a suddenly constituted city censor board. A new trial was sought, with the initial appeal indicated if there was a denial.

President Johnston in addressing a press meeting in Chicago well stated the industry position when he denounced film censorship "as a censorship of personal liberty—a curtailment of individual choice—a damnable stupid insult to the intelligence of the moviegoer."

● ON DEC. 5, the association's directors by unanimous vote extended the employment contract of President Johnston for a five-year period; thus his term now runs to 1958. On April 13, Johnston had been re-elected. A frequent public speaker during the year, one of his most important engagements was before the IATSE convention in Detroit on Aug. 16. His theme: greater international film exchange.

Other association developments of moment: George R. Canty left a State Department post in Switzerland to become the MPAA representative in vital Italy; Robert W. Chambers resigned as MPAA's research director; the MPEA operational staff was skeletonized, with the MPEA taking quarters in the MPAA offices; the Soviet Ministry of Trade, after a two-year delay, finally registered the MPEA trademark, but there was no purchase of American films. Instead, as the year drew to a close, a pirated print of Columbia's "Mr. Smith Goes to Washington" was exhibited for obvious anti-American propaganda purposes in Moscow. Johnston called upon the State Department to investigate and act.

IX

SIMPP. Again in 1950, the Society of Independent Motion Picture Producers joined generally with the Motion Picture Association of America to present a united front overseas. The United Kingdom was the focal point, although there was a carry over elsewhere. Where the two associations reportedly failed to see eye to eye, however, was in the case of proposals for a new French agreement. The Society was strongly opposed to a numerical limit of American imports and to the proportion of the overall number allocated to independent producers.

On May 2, the Society authorized a scientific survey of all independent pictures made in Hollywood in the last 10 years, following the presentation of a proposed $20,000,000 financing plan by Alex H. Ardrey, executive vice-president of New York's Bankers Trust Co., credited with underwriting one-fifth of all American independent production. Assignment for the survey went to George Bagnall, the Society's treasurer and formerly a vice-president of United Artists. On Nov. 8, came the announcement that the project had been scrapped. Reason, producers declined to open their books.

● ON JUNE 15, at its annual meeting in Hollywood, the Society returned to office President Ellis G. Arnall and his cabinet, and authorized Arnall to accept or reject the pending Anglo-American remittance pact proposals.

On Nov. 19, Arnall announced that the Society would press immediately for COMPO consideration of trade practices. Eight days later, meeting the requests of COMPO executives, Arnall deferred action until such time as COMPO was more competent to act. Prior to the Arnall move to expand COMPO's province to include the touchy trade practice issue, officials of the Society, the MPAA and the Federal Trade Commission met in Washington to explore the possibility of a fair trade practices covenant within the motion picture industry.

! INTERNATIONAL. Aside from the signing of the new one-year Anglo-American remittance agreement, 1950 saw the industry encountering problems in important European markets. In Italy, discussions looking to a new agreement bogged down, with remittances halted in June. In Argentina a five-year agreement, which had been reached, and which would have unfrozen $5,000,000 suddenly proved no agreement at all. In Germany, the issue was unrestricted import licenses for American companies. And in France, Spain and Sweden there were other problems unsolved as the year ended.

There were, of course, credit entries as well as debit. Kroner convertability ceilings for American films were increased by Norway and Denmark. The Yugo-Slav State Film Monopoly signed a new deal with the MPEA calling for 35 films, an increase of 10. As June ended $2,550,410, in ECA German guarantees were approved.

In July, the MPEA ratified the terms of a new Japanese agreement calling for the release in Japan of a minimum of 78 American features, an equal number of shorts and 39 newsreels between July 1 and March 31, 1951. The export association was authorized to convert $1,500,000 from accumulated yen earnings in Japan from its nine member companies distributing there. The first American distributor to make a separate agreement for distribution of American films in Japan in the post war period was Monogram which in February disclosed a deal with Shochika Films Enterprises Ltd. Other similar deals by independents followed. Later, however, the MPEA board, meeting on Dec. 12, voted to continue its distribution setup in Japan for six months beyond the June 30, 1951 expiration date, thus halting member company plans to operate there on their own.

● EARLY IN THE YEAR as a forward step in the international field the MPAA established a new advisory unit for foreign films and chose as its executive director, B. Bernard Kreisler, an experienced sales executive, who previously had surveyed the European film scenes for Harvard's Graduate School of Business Administration. In due course distinguished figures of the Italian, French, German, Swedish and other foreign industries visited the United States under the unit's sponsorship.

In March, there was another important move made in New York when independent distributors and representatives of foreign film producers met to inaugurate their own trade organization.

Refusal by the Production Code Administration of MPAA seals of approval to two foreign pictures presented two problems during 1950. Early in the year, the Italian-made "Bicycle Thief" was refused a seal unless cuts were made. It played without the seal. Late in the year, the British-made "Oliver Twist," withheld from exhibition here for two years because of objections to the Fagin characterization, also was denied a seal.

One of the most important of the Anglo-American distribution pacts disclosed in 1950 was between Monogram and Associated British Pathé; it provides for a minimum of 24 and maximum of 30 English-made pictures to be distributed here during a three-year period.

● TWO AMERICAN DISTRIBUTORS ended existing European commitments during the year. Republic broke away from British Lion to hereafter handle its own releasing in the U.K. Important, too, was the cancelling of Eagle Lion Classics' European distribution contracts with Gamma Film, which took place in August. Gamma represented ELC in six countries; henceforth, ELC distributes directly.

The year saw several new international industry alliances effected. Prominent among them were the Sol Lesser-Olle Nordemar entente which brought together in a reciprocal arrangement the Hollywood producer and the president of Sweden's Artfilm, and the creation of Lopert Films Distributing Co. Identified with the latter as principals are Robert W. Dowling's

City Investing Co. interests, Sir Alexander Korda's London Film Co., British Lion and Ilya Lopert, the latter head of an art house circuit. Lesser also launched Principal Pictures International in August to cater to American art theaters.

In late October, Souvaine Selective Pictures, formed by Julius Fleischmann, Henry Souvaine and Howard L. Taylor, acquired American rights to films of the French Government-owned L'Union Generale Cinematographique.

Another alliance was effected by Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., Jack Wrathers and Schroeder-Rockefeller with British interests for Anglo American production under the banner of Dougfair Corp. headed by Fairbanks.

Of note, too, was the formation in London in mid-September of Cinecolor Great Britain, Ltd., by the U. S. Cinecolor Corp. and London's Radiant Films, the new company to be headed by Sir Sidney Clift and A. J. Taylor. U. S. Cinecolor holds a 26 per cent stock interest.

● ON DEC. 28, THE FILM DAILY disclosed the details of a 20th-Fox theater building program overseas providing for four new houses, three in Haifa, Tel Aviv and Jerusalem, Israeli, and the fourth in Alexandria, Egypt. In Jerusalem, the company also is considering the erection of a municipal building in association with the city.

● OTHER IMPORTANT international developments of the year are reflected in these summaries of FILM DAILY stories:

British Parliament approved the 30 per cent quota. MPEA and BFPA entered into a frozen currency swap agreement. Loew's, RKO, Columbia and Universal were victors in Will H. Hays' arbitration decision in a foreign remittance dispute. 20th-Fox Int'l took over distribution of 12 Film Classics features in Australia, New Zealand and South Africa. Indonesian devaluation cost U. S. companies an estimated $2,000,000. Special adult PCA seal was proposed for foreign films by Dr. Renato Gualino, president of the Italian Film Producers Association. Loew's International expanded in Central and South America with 16 mm. versions of 50 Mexican features.

Properly classified as international was an interesting Hollywood development of the year—a United Nations story penetration. Sequences concerned with UN activities went into nearly a dozen stories, and as the year ended, others specifically concerned with UN undertakings were in the planning stage.

XI

§ TELEVISION. Topic of the hour, any hour, East and West, North and South, in the industry-at-large in 1950 was television, and what to do about it. The proposals were many, and, as was to be expected, generally reflected self-interest. Yet, despite the year's advances and experimentation, some of the more important questions relating to industry participation in, and utilization of, television remained unanswered.

While there were other contributing causes for the decline in film theater attendance during 1950, it was obvious that the greatest inroads were made by television. Set sales soared, and as of Sept. 1, an independent market research study placed the number of American families owning TV receivers at 7,213,700 or 17.9 per cent. The number increased sharply in the last quarter, although the actual figures were not available.

The national emergency, declared by the President in December, made it plain that in the new year there would be severe cutbacks in set manufacturing and indicated, further, that commercial introduction of color television by CBS and possibly the lifting of the new station "freeze" were unlikely.

Left in doubt also as the nation turned its attention to "first things first" were the advent of certain technical advances, among them Paramount's new color tube, upon which attention centered in 1950 and, possibly, FCC allocation of exclusive channels for theater TV.

● PERHAPS the most far-reaching of all industry television moves during 1950 was the decision reached by major companies to make available product for the experimental run of Zenith's "pay as you see" system, Phonevision. Reportedly, the decision was influenced by Department of Justice representations, indirectly if not directly made.

The FCC on Feb. 9 originally gave Zenith the green light for Phonevision's test period of 90 days, restricted to 300 Chicago subscribers. With distributors for months adamant in their refusal to provide necessary features, there was a series of postponements. Then, in December, came the change of front, paving the way for the inaugural of Phonevision on Jan. 1 with Metro's "Homecoming," Paramount's "Welcome Stranger" and Warners' "April Showers" as the first day's offerings.

Meanwhile, Skiatron Electronic & Television Corp., (formerly American Scophony), had been granted permission by the FCC to make engineering tests of its own Subscriber-Vision system in the New York Metropolitan area via closed circuit on WOR-TV Channel 9. As the year ended, Skiatron applied for a renewal of its test license, looked forward to a 1951 FCC demonstration.

Skiatron Subscriber-Vision differs from Zenith's system in that it transmits scrambled signals over the air waves, while the latter uses the telephone lines to insure legible reception. A decoding machine, utilizing a perforated card, and attached to the set, brings in the unscrambled picture for Skiatron.

Immediate development of Phonevision and Skiatron obviously will be influenced by other important factors than the national emergency, yet this much is certain: Sooner or later, it will be possible to "go to the movies" at home for a set "box office" tariff.

● UNDER SUCH CIRCUMSTANCES, it was only natural that TV should be well to the fore at industry meetings during the year. This was especially true of the TOA Houston convention which urged all TOA members to give their financial support to the National Exhibitors Theater Television Committee, formed in early July to conduct industry-wide theater TV research and to stimulate agreement on basic policies. The TOA convention recommended that additional exhibitors enter the theater TV field, installing the necessary equipment.

At National Allied's Pittsburgh convention, Gene Autry, under fire because of his engagement in film production specifically for television, appeared, told the indie exhibs. they had not permitted him to make a fair profit on his theater westerns, and that his TV films were non-competitive.

The two national exhibitor organizations were still at odds over theater TV channels as the year waned. TOA favors microwave channels, Allied's choice is VHF channels, contending the former would result in a new monopoly in the theater TV field.

Meanwhile, during the year there were those who contended that higher TV standards are required for the theater, and this influenced the deferment of National Theaters plans to link together some 20 FWC houses as a theater TV circuit. At the year end, Syros P. Skouras emplaned to Switzerland to inspect a new theater TV system, believed to hold unusual promise.

Number of U. S. film theaters engaged in theater TV pioneering during the year reached 16, but UPT's Leonard Goldenson predicted confidently that 15,000 ultimately would be equipped, and envisioned a national network offering exclusive programs. There was reason to believe that, the national emergency's demands permitting, one major circuit would invest heavily in theater TV equipment in 1951.

Established Hollywood independent producers, including Walt Disney, turned their attention to TV film making, although no major studio was so involved. Accepted trade estimates indicate that well above 100 hours of television programs on film were produced by independent producers during 1950. This roughly would approximate one-sixth as much footage as was turned out by studios for theater exhibition. But on the basis of cost, the ratio would be about 50 to one; that is, for each dollar invested in such television film production, $50 was poured into theater film production.

● OTHER TV DEVELOPMENTS of special interest: Zenith signed James A. FitzPatrick to produce a series of 12 European shorts for exclusive Phonevision use; Paramount materially expanded its kinescope network; deals by which old Hollywood and British product were made available to video stations markedly increased; RCA successfully transmitted color TV over the coaxial cable; the European Association of Motion Picture Exhibitors proposed a ban on the sale of films to TV; the AFM signed first contracts permitting union musicians to make films for TV; a September FILM DAILY survey showed 200 ex-Hollywoodians now working in New York TV net shows; ASCAP members approved a video license agreement; newspaper-owned TV stations organized to produce their own films; two Century Circuit theaters successfully experimented with a pickup of the NBC-TV newsreel; N. Peter Rathvon produced a full-hour TV film show for a reported $30,000; Catholic War Veterans protests caused WPIN to cancel a Chaplin film series; football game pickups for large screen theater TV proved an excellent box office stimulant; the IMPPA neared an agreement with the AFM looking to release of post-1946 low budget product for TV; General Precision Labs. demonstrated a new 16 mm. theater TV system.

! EXHIBITION. No happy year for theater operators was 1950. The box office dipped—people were obviously shopping for entertainment. True, top pictures still commanded top grosses, but the "takes" of average pictures were down, and inferior product was off to the point that popcorn and candy receipts were of little help.

Why did the box office drop? Many things contributed: More TV homes and improved TV programs, installment buying, the high cost of living, and lack of aggressive showmanship—a phrase mantling sins of omission and commission—to mention the more obvious.

Twentieth-Fox gallantly spent thousands for an antidote, but exhibitor follow through to its "Back to Showmanship" meetings was sporadic, and good resolutions faded. When COMPO elements stepped into the breach with a three-point PR-box office building program, it was approved . . . but referred to committees for further study.

In some cities and areas, alarmed showmen meanwhile devised their own programs. Still more were in the discussion or shaping stage at the year end. However, the crying need was a national campaign, properly co-ordinated, adequately financed.

Could the country's theater owner-operators be brought into line in the light of their varying viewpoints on many industry matters, including COMPO itself? Those who argued affirmatively pointed to the cohesion and unity attained in the Congressional tax relief drive. But here, again, is unfinished business for 1951.

● TOA, IN ADDITION TO TELEVISION, centered convention attention upon arbitration and competitive bidding. Allied, too, hit out hard at bidding and exorbitant film rentals generally. In the instance of bidding, Allied would have it justified only upon request of an indie exhibitor when in competition with an affiliated circuit or other strong competitor.

Allied also made forcing of product, charged against distributors, a target, and directed the national board to investigate the advisability of co-operative buying of equipment, supplies and confectionery.

TOA initiated a move looking to the holding in 1951 of a joint exposition and convention with TESMA-TEDA. Subsequently there was the proposal that SMPTE join in.

Upon invitation of President Sam Pinanski of TOA, producing and distributing company heads met in New York on Nov. 29 to canvass problems involved in establishing a "workable" arbitration system. There was non-attendance by two companies—United Artists and Eagle Lion Classics.

"It was the consensus that efforts should be made to obtain the active participation and co-operation of exhibitors and distributors generally in the consideration and formation of such a program" was the way the press release summed it up.

And so the matter stood at the year end.

● THREE REGIONAL ASSOCIATIONS made news of more than territorial import. In early July, R. V. "Rotus" Harvey of the PCCITO urged a return to the complete service contract. Late in the year, Allied of Michigan set year-round film clinics, to be held every two weeks on a regional basis. North Central Allied as the year neared a close formulated a "fair rental plan," asked distributors for an early January meeting.

It was Allied of Michigan, which in mid-December disclosed the unanimous adoption of a report by its board calling for a merger of national exhibitor organizations. The board had excellent arguments—the existing setup means "waste, duplication of effort, and loss of prestige."

The National Exhibitors Film Corp., launched so hopefully as a potential source of production financing in 1949, failed to make the grade and was dropped.

Exhibitor interest in financing production of features for the Cinerama "third dimension" process, which stirred a Summer wave of enthusiasm, also faded out in December.

XIII

§ LABOR. There were "labor pains" in evidence in 1950, and portents of more in the offing. Major developments had a Hollywood setting late in the year. By a 493 to four vote, the SWG authorized a strike against major studios, but under the law it could not come before March. The principle of separating TV rights from screen rights was the point at issue.

When requests of film craft unions for a voluntary cost of living wage increase failed of action the Hollywood AFL Film Council asked the producers to meet with them immediately to negotiate, although the current contract runs until the Summer of 1951. However, almost simultaneously the SAG announced a negotiated six months' extension of its collective contract from the Dec. 31 expiration date. The Guild agreed to the extension in order that the NLRB might adjudicate the dispute with the Television Authority regarding jurisdiction over television acting prior to the bargaining sessions. The extension, however, may be cancelled by either side on 60 days notice.

Early in the year, labor cast a jaundiced eye against re-issues and American production overseas, fearful that extension of both would add to employment difficulties.

The television jurisdictional dispute had its origin in March when the SDG, prompted by increasing employment of its members in making film material for TV screens, claimed jurisdiction over all directors of both film and television shows. There was a quick challenge from the Radio and Television Directors Guild. In April, the board of the Associated Actors and Artistes of America, parent of all performer unions, granted the newly formed Television Authority full powers to organize the entire TV field, over the vigorous objections of the SAG. The latter, in a matter of days, served legal notice on producers it was the sole agent for all actors and all films.

Exploration of the possibility of establishing affiliates of the SDG in Europe was undertaken by President Joseph Mankiewicz, who found snags in the guise of stringent labor regulations plus the fact that film workers abroad are generally organized in "vertical" units.

● THE SDG IN AUGUST determined to incorporate a non-Communist affidavit in its membership applications. This action came on the heels of the adoption of a strong anti-Communist resolution at the IATSE convention.

The IATSE at its biennial convention at Detroit in August referred to its executive board for study a proposal under which the association would depart from its past policy of conducting pension plan negotiations on the local level in favor of industry-wide contract clauses. The convention too, instructed the general office to take a referendum on whether film locals should be given option to negotiate locally. In his annual report to the convention, President Richard F. Walsh made it very evident that the IA's position in the television field would receive major attention. Walsh and his full cabinet were reelected.

The Colosseum of Motion Picture Salesmen, at its Cincinnati convention in December, added to the 1951 portents. Its contract demands for the year starting April 16 will include salary and expense increases, improved employment conditions and added security provisions. Harris Wynn was elected president.

Late in December, the IATSE and the eight major distributors, plus National Screen Service, agreed upon a new two-year contract covering some 5,000 exchange employees. Principal provisions: A blanket $4 wage increase, a severance clause for workers.

● OTHER LABOR DEVELOPMENTS of importance included: A victory for the SPG in the Coast bargaining election over the Motion Picture Publicists Association (Local 818, IATSE); the signing of a new eight-year basic agreement by the IMPPA with the SDG; the signing by the Screen Extras Guild of a new contract with the major studios extending to Oct. 25, 1953.

There were two unusual organizational moves in Detroit. There, the Teamsters Union made a bid to organize exchange shippers, backed away when the IATSE opposed, then sought through Local 985 to establish jurisdiction over all types of coin-operated machines in theaters. IATSE Local B25 in Detroit set a precedent by electing an all-feminine slate of officers for 1951.

FROM PINEWOOD STUDIOS

- THE BROWNING VERSION — The two masters of stage and screen, playwright TERENCE RATTIGAN and director ANTHONY ASQUITH join forces to create characters which MICHAEL REDGRAVE, JEAN KENT and NIGEL PATRICK play with distinction. A prize-winning film at the 1951 Cannes Festival.
- NIGHT WITHOUT STARS — A best-selling novel from WINSTON GRAHAM; that popular, rugged international star DAVID FARRAR; and a new name in glamor to conjure with — NADIA GRAY. Such are the talents that went to the making of this exciting romantic adventure in the South of France.
- WHITE CORRIDORS — It will grip you — it may shock you — but you cannot fail to be moved by its courage, daring and reality. The story of a hospital every day, in every town. Stars GOOGIE WITHERS, JAMES DONALD, PETULA CLARK, GODFREY TEARLE, MOIRA LISTER, JACK WATLING and BARRY JONES.
- HOTEL SAHARA — To London town came YVONNE DE CARLO; and the old city sat up and took notice. And so will the whole world when this gay comedy of a desert hotel, her first British picture, hits the headlines. In the cast, too — PETER USTINOV, ROLAND CULVER and DAVID TOMLINSON.
- HIGH TREASON — A picture of today — of today's headlines, radio bulletins and secret service reports. High drama of would-be betrayers of a nation's heritage. A picture without stars — the faces could belong to any of us.
- VALLEY OF EAGLES — Across the frozen wastes of the Antarctic a scientist makes his way with the secrets of the free world — fleeing with him, another man's wife! It's action all the way with JACK WARNER, Britain's top money-making star for 1950, lovely, red-headed NADIA GRAY, JOHN McCALLUM and the eagles and wolves of the Laplanders.

Link Organization

- APPOINTMENT WITH VENUS — To a tiny island in the English Channel went a man and a girl — their mission at once desperate, incredible, riotously funny. DAVID NIVEN, GLYNIS JOHNS, GEORGE COLOURIS — and the cause of all the trouble, VENUS!
- ENCORE — MR. MAUGHAM story-telling again. What is it this time? GIGOLO AND GIGOLETTE, WINTER CRUISE, THE ANT AND THE GRASSHOPPER Production team as before, but a new lineup of international stars.

FROM EALING STUDIOS IN THEIR 21st ANNIVERSARY YEAR

- POOL OF LONDON — Into London's dockland steam the ships of the world. Wherever waterways meet, there too, meets intrigue, violence and passion. In this story of the best known seaport are stars, BONAR COLLEANO, MOIRA LISTER, SUSAN SHAW and EARL CAMERON.
- LAVENDER HILL MOB — The motion picture industry has startlingly revealed the desperate exploits of history's most dangerous men. Now it brings you a partnership to blast all other bad men from the screen — ALEC GUINNESS and STANLEY HOLLOWAY! What these two didn't know about crime would fill every thriller ever written. One of those comedies coming only from Ealing.
- THE MAN IN THE WHITE SUIT — It's that man again — ALEC GUINNESS. All America now knows him. What will he do next? Well, this time it's the comedy of a young scientist who invents a fabric that never wears out. With him — JOAN GREENWOOD, CECIL PARKER and MICHAEL GOUGH.
- NO VULTURES FLY — Africa today — in Technicolor. Once the plains teemed with game — now the reservations are their only refuge. This is the story of one man's fight to make a dream come true. Look out for new star ANTHONY STEELE, lovely D'NAH SHERIDAN and HAROLD WARRENDER.

TELEVISION DEVELOPMENTS

By LARRY GOODMAN
Staff Writer, THE FILM DAILY

WHEREVER AND WHENEVER anyone connected with the film industry got together with anyone else during 1950, the conversation either started with television or got around to it sooner or later. Usually, it was sooner, and it came right after the question, "how's business?"

There are very few hardy souls around in 1951 who will deny that television left its mark on the industry during the past year. With 7,213,700 families, or 17.9 per cent of the population, having receiver sets right in their homes by September, and upwards of 500,000 more sets being turned out every month, filmdom faced a serious challenge for the entertainment dollar. Complicating the problem were added sidelights including FCC rulings, Phonevision tests, Kefauver crime hearings, "freeze" and color confusion, theater television and sales of films to TV stations. At times, it appeared as if the film industry had found its way out of its dilemma; at other moments, the situation looked dark indeed.

The best plan, it was decided individually and jointly by leaders in exhibition, production and distribution, would be to embrace the new medium and harness it for film's best use. Paramount, continuing work on its color tube, 20th-Fox, picking up an option on the Swiss Eidophor system for theater television; leading exhibitors like Mitchell Wolfson and Sherrill Corwin going into TV station operation; and finally, alert exhibitors of the Si Fabian-Sam Pinanski-John Balaban ilk, as well as Wolfson and Corwin, urging more theater men to join them in securing large-screen equipment, were all prime movers in a determined bid not to be "left out." Truman Rembusch, stumping for channel allocations and urging his Allied members to use TV trailers as effective advertising, led the way for the smaller independent exhibitors.

While those in the industry were deciding what to do about television, the latter was not standing still. The coaxial cable pushed as far west as Omaha, and the first order for full-time service from Omaha westward to the Coast has been received by AT&T from the ABC network. There were 103 stations in 60 markets by April, or just a scant few less than was permitted by the FCC after its "freezing" of channel allocations on Sept. 30, 1948; $800,000,000 worth of retail TV set business was estimated for the year—and at least half was via time payment plans.

RCA brought out its three-gun color tube at the end of March, and sent color out over the coaxial cable the following month. Company also announced the development of a new theater TV system which featured a 625-line picture on an eight megacycle channel, compared to the 525 lines going over four megacycles in a six MC band for home sets.

DuMont patented a three-color tube in May, and General Electric and Paramount readied their color tubes by August. Predictions by RCA and Paul Raibourn of Paramount, among others, indicate that color TV will be ready for home receivers by the end of '51, with Raibourn going out on the limb for color reception in theaters, too.

CBS came up with a color system in 1950, too, and the FCC left itself wide open for trouble when it announced, on Sept. 1, that it had chosen the CBS system over the others (RCA and Chromatic). RCA took action, filing suit against its competitor and the FCC, but the suit was dismissed just before Christmas. Ultimately, the question will be decided by the Supreme Court, in view of RCA's appeal. Main objection industry-wide to the FCC decision to standardize with the CBS system is the fact that CBS requires a mechanical color disc attached to the receiver.

Biggest news in television came after the year's end, when the FCC indicated, in March, that the freeze would soon be lifted.

Several by-products of television also developed during 1950 to further discomfort the film industry, or at least the exhibitors. Of these, Phonevision and Subscriber-Vision commanded the greatest interest. The former, Zenith Radio's pay-as-you-see TV system, using the telephone company as the intermediary to unscramble a distorted signal on home receivers, was put to the test by the FCC in Chicago. Sets were installed in 300 representative homes for a 90-day period, and results were tabulated.

Several postponements, while Commander E. F. McDonald of Zenith scouted around for suitable film offerings from the major companies, delayed actual tests until January, '51. The majors finally permitted some fairly recent features to be used, but conclusions drawn from the data of the Chicago tests were widely interpreted. While exhibitors scoffed, and found that theater TV had fared better in Chicago, Zenith projected its results on a 4,000,000-set basis, and arrived at tremendous grosses for producers. "The greatest threat to exhibition conceived to date" was Rembusch's opinion. "It will fall of its own weight," Fred Schwartz of Century Theaters added.

Subscriber-Vision, a similar project undertaken in New York City by Skiatron, is awaiting the green light from the FCC to conduct tests in metropolitan homes. Skiatron's gimmick is a decoding card that fits into the home set and clears a scrambled signal.

The film companies' reluctance to deliver fresh product of Phonevision and TV was in their own best interests as well as those of the exhibitors. Nevertheless, many films of fairly recent vintage "slipped through" to the eager TV stations. The Theater Owners of America registered a stiff protest with the major companies early in January, holding that no feature designed for theatrical showing should be released to TV. On the other hand, Irving Lesser called television "the answer to the independent producer's prayer for additional revenue."

Again, on May 4, North Central Allied, at its annual convention, called for a TV ban on all films over four reels long. Only five days later, however, Republic's Herbert J. Yates sent identical wires to Allied Board Chairman Abram F. Myers, TOA Executive Director Gael Sullivan, and ITOA President Harry Brandt, warning them that his company might have to "find other revenue outlets that will keep us in business" if exhibitors didn't support Republic pix.

It was in that same month, moreover, that Cincinnati TV station WLW-T gained exclusive local rights to 68 films, most of which had been produced in the last six years at the J. Arthur Rank studios in England. Then, in June, the B & K outlet in Chicago, WBKB, purchased 26 former Alexander Korda features to be televised. ABC obtained the TV rights to 18 features and 14 westerns produced by Harry Thomas for Eagle Lion release later in the year, and WGN-TV purchased a package of 19 former Eagle Lion releases. In almost every instance, the producer or distributor had sold his rights to a go-between, and later expressed "surprise" that the pix turned up in the hands of the TV stations.

In the main, however, the major companies steadfastly refused to deal away their "meal ticket" product to TV for economic reasons. Moreover, many went so far as to try to prohibit their stars under contract from appearing on televised shows without consent of the film company. It was these practices that the FCC set its sights on when, in March of 1951, it released its report on the consideration of antitrust histories of applicants for new TV licenses.

Film companies which held back their best product from television outlets and restrained their stars from appearing on the new medium would not act in the best public interest if they also owned television stations, the FCC indicated. The industry was quick to take up the cudgel in this matter, and the last word has not yet been heard. The FCC, it was felt, had obviously "prejudged" the issue.

That the companies would turn and make their films available to their fiercest competitor, at any rate, seemed extremely doubtful. As one leading executive stated, "why should we give up at least half a million dollars worth of business through theater exhibition, for a maximum $20,000 gross which television is prepared to pay us?"

The FCC report, however, was not intended to hinder in any way the industry's efforts to acquire exclusive theater video channels. Leading exhibitors continued to provide their key theaters with installations of either the RCA, the Paramount intermediary, or the General Precision type. By the end of 1950, 16 flagship houses had been equipped. High cost of installation—upwards of $25,000 per unit had deterred many, but early in 1951 RCA's announcement that production volume permitted a reduction in price to $15,800 spurred the exhibitors on.

★★★★★ TELEVISION DEVELOPMENTS ★★★★★

In addition, there were several new factors which made theater TV more attractive to the reluctant exhibitor. The arrangements for exclusive telecasts of top sporting events, as well as provision to telecast other leading news and sporting features were important considerations to the undecided. Noteworthy during the year were the Big Ten football telecasts of Chicago and Michigan home games, several Notre Dame home games, the UN sessions, President Truman's speeches, and then, of course, in 1951, the overwhelmingly popular crime investigation series.

For the hearings, it will be remembered, Century Theaters tried a new experiment in public relations as well as theater TV: the Marine, in Brooklyn, and the Queens, in Queens Village, put aside the film fare for the matinee showings, and devoted their screens exclusively to the hearings, inviting the public in for free. Century also was the circuit which experimented with the piping of TV newsreels into its Marine Theater, carrying the Camel Newsreel program as an added public service to its patrons.

Early in 1951, too, the National Collegiate Athletic Association's television committee met in Dallas and voted to discontinue home telecasts of NCAA contests during the year and to experiment with other TV mediums. Theater TV, of course, stepped into the breach, and at the NCAA's Chicago meetings a month later, TOA's Nate Halpern and United Paramount's Robert O'Brien were on hand to bring the college heads up to date on theater TV and in turn to learn what the NCAA could offer for 1951 exclusive telecasts.

The setting up of a National Exhibitors Theater Television Council, with many prominent TOA leaders at the helm, also kept the ball rolling in the right direction. General Precision, which successfully demonstrated its Videofilm Theater TV system at the Chicago TESMA convention and the Houston TOA convention, did much to heighten exhibitor interest. It was not surprising, then, that one of the results of the Houston sessions was the pledge of full support to the NETTC, with every member assessed either $25 or $15 per theater, depending upon size, for aid in investigation of mass sales, technical improvements, and, most important, ultimate allocation of exclusive channels by the FCC.

The industry would also adapt the new medium to its advertising needs, it was decided, and several trailer and spot announcement campaigns were inaugurated. Outstanding were Paramount's test for the "Thelma Jordan" New York engagement and Century and Skouras circuit's talent searches, in January; a $5,000 radio-TV drive in Boston in May; a $10,000 campaign for "No Sad Songs for Me" at the Radio City Music Hall that same month; the Columbia "711 Ocean Drive" New York City saturation campaign; and Eagle Lion Classics' Chicago pitch for "Destination Moon," later in the year.

In addition, National Screen Service announced in May the makeup of a video trailer package to cost $35, which included three 20-second and one 60-second plug. First in the series was made for 20th-Fox' "The Big Lift." Exhibitor interest in these trailers has dwindled considerably, however, and several major companies have cancelled future commitments with NSS.

In the field of labor, there were several important TV developments, too. Until very recently, James C. (for Caesar) Petrillo, head of the American Federation of Musicians, had forbidden AFM members from appearing in TV films made expressly for that medium. He relented somewhat, however, and by the end of the year had worked out deals with several producers whereby the latter will turn over five per cent of all receipts to a union fund. Petrillo has not relaxed his ban on the TV showing of Hollywood musicals made after 1944, however.

A jurisdictional squabble between the Screen Actors Guild and the Screen Extras Guild on one side, and a newly-formed Television Authority on the other, buzzed through the early months of 1950. The latter, abetted by the AAAA, parent of all talent guilds, seems to have won the upper hand over the Coast unions, who maintained that TV acting was no different from film acting.

Television, in general, was still in its infancy in 1950, but the baby was commanding more and more attention. It prompted the European Association of Movie Theater Exhibitors, meeting in Paris in May, to write into the record a seven-nation protest—signed by exhibs. from Belgium, France, Great Britain, Luxembourg, Holland, Italy and Switzerland, all of whom had seen very little of actual television competition—against the sale of feature films to television stations.

And the mighty cherub prompted Gen. David Sarnoff of RCA to predict that the medium could very well elect our next president, based on his forecast of 20 million sets for an audience of 80 million by November, 1952.

COLOR DEVELOPMENTS

By LOUIS PELEGRINE

The Film Daily Staff

PROSPECTS FOR WIDER USE OF COLOR developed last year as more meritorious color processes than ever before bid for the attention of film makers and the increase in competition promised to bring down costs to the point where more and more producers would be tempted to go for tinting.

The year was marked also by improvements in existing as well as new processes—improvements that not only were calculated to boost the quality of color films but to make them cheaper to turn out.

An important development in the field of color photography which introduced a new photographic system operative with its improved three-strip cameras was announced by Technicolor. "The new system will permit the use of uncorrected incandescent illumination and will decrease lighting requirement to a point within the range of that now used for black and white photography," according to Dr. Herbert T. Kalmus, president and general manager of the company. It was said that "this will result in shorter shooting schedules and lowered production costs."

Major studios tested the new Technicolor system during the latter part of 1950, and, in the words of Kalmus, "the results in all cases received high praise." Although a program to make the system available to the industry "to the full extent of the Technicolor capacity" was reported by Kalmus to be "well underway," it was not expected that the system would be in general use in the industry before this summer.

Eastman Kodak's three-color process, a newcomer, was further improved in 1950. While no features using Eastman Kodak color negative and color print processes were released during the year, experimental work was carried on at a number of studios and laboratories, and it was anticipated that some features using the process would be released in 1951.

The fortunes of the Eastman Kodak process were considerably advanced as result of the formation of Tri Art Color Corp. as a subsidiary of Du Art Laboratories of New York for the purposes of processing the EK color positive film, designated as Tri Art color.

Anso made preparations in 1950 for introduction this year of 35mm negative and positive color film. It was expected that the new type color film would supplant the reversal type upon which Anso had concentrated in earlier years.

Experimenting with the Anso process and aiding in its development was M-G-M. The Anso color can be used in a standard black-and-white camera and processed in the studio's laboratory with essentially the same facility as black-and-white film. M-G-M, in its development program, installed special laboratory equipment to handle experimental single-film color processes.

Cinecolor, Inc., went all-out in the promotion of its new three-color Supercinecolor, experimentation in which was carried to successful conclusion last year. It spent a sizeable sum to change over its Burbank, Calif., plant to the processing of Supercinecolor and to expand its facilities there. Several features employing the new process were completed while others were contracted for.

It was announced that 65 percent of the laboratory's capacity would be devoted to Supercinecolor and 35 percent to Cinecolor. Plans call for turning out this year no less than 25 pictures in Supercinecolor and between 15 and 20 in Cinecolor.

The dream of bringing three-color Trucolor into being was realized at the Consolidated Film Laboratories plant in Fort Lee, N. J., early last year. Immediate use of the process commercially was ordered by President Herbert J. Yates of Republic Pictures, of which Consolidated is a subsidiary.

Du Pont in 1950 was still making intensive efforts to develop its own color negative stock. The company recognized the importance of color when it made new development processes for color film one of the primary objectives of studies pursued at its new photo research laboratory in Parlin, N. J.

During the year 20th-Fox pursued its efforts to come up with a lenticulated film color process.

FOREIGN FILM MARKETS

By J. C. PRIORE

Staff Writer, THE FILM DAILY

THE PORTENDING SHADOW OF FUTURE EVENTS on the international film horizon based on events of the recent past indicate that future growth, development or expansion of the foreign market for American celluloid entertainment must face up to the postwar reaction. In the past four or five years the countries deprived of U. S. films have been on the receiving end. American distributors and their agents abroad have dumped a considerable number of pictures into Italy, France, Germany, Japan, and Austria, in addition to such other troublous spots as Bulgaria, Rumania, Hungary, Czechoslovakia and elsewhere.

Now in a strong state of native recovery, the film production exhibition and distribution units in three major markets: Italy, Germany, and France, are once again face to face with outside competition and, in order to survive in the home market, have planned the foundation for restrictive measures, in some instances curtailing, or planning to curtail, foreign playing time on home screens to half of the latest boom period. Also figure into this line of potential reaction the gravity of the international situation, the Western Europe union of nations and their defense commitments, all of which take money and the funds derived from entertainment are readily applicable. Marshall Plan financing faces wide diversion. But locally, stateside, returning observers of the international scene were enthusiastic about the future of U. S. pix abroad and felt that business in 1951 would continue on the upswing with greater flexibility for the conversion of balances into dollars.

Industrious application by production interests in the major European countries has seen the emergence of competition that has mounted in importance. Where Europeans are interested and, at times, quite delighted with American life as it is viewed by the lens, it also stands that they want pictures in their own tongues and there arises the matter of immediate demand and supply.

It all amounts to reciprocity.

Late last year the optimistic note sounded was to the effect that there would be unrestricted imports of U. S. films into West Germany. Voluntary restrictions limited the control number of pictures destined for German screens to 150. However, a financial analysis of the trend of times, and the growing home feeling which seeks the end of Hollywood domination of playing time, offers as an argument basis the fact that American interests have amassed something beyond $10,000,000 in marks. This is considered a dangerously high figure in relation to the Federal Republic's economy. And a quick take at new German production figures brings out that in 1950 there were 77 features produced in the Western portion of the country, a healthy sign of recuperation.

Latest Italian policy being prepared for presentation to foreign operators in that country was being constructed along lines of absolute reciprocity and the move affecting the film industry was considered in line with the Italian Government's instructions to all industry to expand effort for the Western defense mobilization effort. The Italians have reached independence in film production it was made known not too far back. Able to turn out 100 or more features a year they also desire world distribution of their product and are also willing to make interesting profit offers for outside handling.

Spain made its bid in the European picture recently. A survey issued in Madrid gave detailed facts, figures and facilities in that country which could attract outside capital and thus launch another competitive geographical location into the field. A top picture can be produced in Spain, it was shown, for $400,000. All sorts of interesting concessions were listed, labor laws were to be lenient and outside participation would find the country amenable to all requirements. Spain, too, seeks the world market for its output and the angle pointed up was the eventual development of the home industry by outside investment. Said investment would take the form of re-equipping existing studios.

The trend to watch is reciprocity.

FOREIGN FILM DISTRIBUTION IN THE UNITED STATES

By J. C. PRIORE

Staff Writer, THE FILM DAILY

THE TREND toward showing of foreign films in this country is steady and even, perhaps, growing, a review of the past twelvemonth period shows. Importers are learning, it would seem, that the audience for their product is selective and this leads to the explanation of the few really topgrade pictures that were shown here last year.

Endeavoring to enlighten and serve the foreign producer, the Motion Picture Association of America, via its Advisory Unit for Foreign Films, brought over representatives from the industries of Italy, France and Sweden in 1950. These capable men observed conditions at first hand, were enlightened as to procedures, the potentialities of the market and reported back to their respective organizations following a series of press meetings here.

Findings of these individuals, in every case, indicated that if the import and distribution of foreign films in this country were to prosper, there would have to be increased understanding of attitudes. It was emphasized that producers abroad make pictures for specific audiences—namely adults—and children are not permitted to attend such performances. Another factor stressed, particularly in Italy, was the individuality of the Italian industry in its postwar resurgence.

Now enjoying global respect for the realism and artistic quality of their product, the representatives of Italian producers stated that they would not change their successful pattern. The problem of dubbing into English was also discussed and the outlook for development of this technique is questionable.

Opinion reliably familiar with the performance of foreign films in this country still regards the importation factor as a gamble. Censorship is an important factor. Last year a non-regular body objected to 53 per cent of foreign films.

But the big event of the year-end and from the box office point of view one of the top grossers of the past few years is Lux Films'

"Bitter Rice." Picture is expected to play 1,500 theaters throughout the country. It has been booked in the Interstate Circuit's "A" houses; the Wometco, Warner, Fox West Coast, Schine, Fabian, Jefferson Amusement, Robb & Rowley and Griffith chains have played it. It opened to interesting notices in New York and at last reports was in a strong seventh month at the World Theater. This "Bitter Rice" success makes for valuable impression both on production abroad and impact on audiences here. "Manon," modern dress version of the Abbe Prevost novel, starring Cecile Aubry, and directed by Henri Georges Clouzot, is another example of the astute, alert handling of talent and story. Picture has done well in its first key city engagements and is also reported strong in follow up bookings.

Lineup for the coming year includes a new Maurice Chevalier number, "Ma Pomme," to be released here by Discina as "Just a Bum"; "Bluebeard," also featuring Mlle. Aubry, with Michel Simon, being completed in Munich. "Lady Paname," "Casque D'Or" and "Tomorrow We Divorce" are also due.

Lux has about 15-17 for the coming year including "Mill On the Po" and "Oh, Amelia," latter starring Danielle Darrieux. Perhaps the coming year will also see the presentation here of "Atoll K," the Laurel and Hardy, plus Suzy Delair, production.

Arrivals of trade press publications from France, Germany and Italy indicate promising plans and accomplishment. The American market requires understanding and the right approach. On a give and take basis the audience will be found, expanded, the distributors will profit.

An aerial, high-angle view of a city at night, showing a dense grid of buildings and streets illuminated by city lights. The perspective is looking down from a high vantage point, creating a sense of depth and scale. The lights from the buildings and streets create a warm, golden glow against the dark night sky.

Showmanship

around U-I*

We at Universal-International look forward to the '51-'52 season with great enthusiasm born out of full confidence that we know the needs of the nation's showmen and the entertainment wants of the people.

We believe it is not only our feature productions which reflect our "knowledge of the market"; our short subjects and Newsreel, too, have that ingredient.

We think the J. Arthur Rank productions released through this organization are a vitally important means of winning that "lost audience" away from other entertainment diversions and back to the motion picture theatre.

Optimism
